ALPINE to build Estonian Embassy in Peking

- ▶ Estonia relies on Austrian construction quality
- ▶ Construction in Peking's new embassy district to start today

SALZBURG/PEKING/TALLINN ALPINE, the Austrian construction company, will start building the new Estonian Embassy in Peking's embassy district today. The building was planned by the Estonian architects "Studio 3" and will cost approx. 4 million euros. White exposed concrete, glass and sun protection made of natural Estonian wood will characterize the modern, 3-story building. ALPINE will hand over the new embassy building at the end of 2012.

The Austrian ALPINE Construction Company is a global player

The Austrian ALPINE Construction Company is a member of the FCC Group and has built roads, motorways, power plants, stadiums, railways and subways, bridges, residential, commercial and industrial buildings around the world. Together with its subsidiary, ALPINE-ENERGIE, it promotes the construction and development of sustainable, alternative energies and energy networks. Approximately half of the construction output of over 3 billion euros is generated in Austria's domestic market. ALPINE has won international acclaim with foreign projects: ALPINE is responsible for the construction of three stadiums for the 2012 European Football Championships in Poland as well as subway lines in New Delhi and Singapore, the Bulgarian hydraulic power plant in Tsankov Kamak and hundreds of other construction projects of every type and size.
