

2012-01-30

70,000 celebrate opening of the new National Stadium in Warsaw

► The stadiums built by ALPINE in Posen, Danzig and Warsaw, Poland are ready for the UEFA EURO 2012 kick-off

WARSAW Warsaw's brand new National Stadium was officially opened yesterday by 70,000 Polish fans with a huge celebration featuring concerts and fireworks. The stadium, built by ALPINE Construction Company and a Polish partner, will open in 130 days for the UEFA EURO 2012™ kick-off match between Poland and Greece.

The ALPINE Construction Company and a Polish partner constructed three stadiums for the European Football Championships. Posen Stadium, seating 43,000, was completed in the fall of 2010; the PGE Arena in Danzig, holding 44,000 spectators, hosted its first games in August 2011, and Warsaw National Stadium with a capacity of 58,000, was officially opened yesterday. ALPINE demonstrated its exceptional international competence in the construction of sports facilities once more in preparing for the large-scale UEFA Euro 2012™ event.

Facts and figures for the three European Championship stadiums built by ALPINE

Warsaw National Stadium:

58,000 seats

Cost: 1.5 billion zloty

UEFA Euro 2012 games in Warsaw:

June 8: Opening game Poland vs. Greece

June 12: Poland vs. Russia

June 16: Greece vs. Poland

June 21: Quarter final

June 28: Semi-final 1.A – 2.B

PGE Arena Danzig:

44,000 seats

Cost: 530 million zloty

UEFA Euro 2012 games in Danzig:

June 10: Spain vs. Italy

June 14: Spain vs. Ireland

PRESS RELEASE

June 18: Croatia vs. Spain
June 22: Quarter final 1.B – 2.A

Posen City Stadium:

43,000 seats
Cost: 480 million zloty

UEFA Euro 2012 games in Posen:

June 10: Ireland vs. Croatia

June 14: Italy vs. Croatia

June 22: Italy vs. Ireland

ALPINE: an Austrian success story

The Austrian ALPINE Construction Company is a member of the FCC Group and has built roads, motorways, power plants, stadiums, railways and subways, bridges, residential, commercial and industrial buildings around the world. Together with its subsidiary, ALPINE-ENERGIE, it promotes the construction and development of sustainable, alternative energies and energy networks.

Approximately half of the revenue from construction services of approx. 3.5 billion euros per year is generated in Austria's domestic market.

ALPINE has won international acclaim with foreign projects: ALPINE is responsible for the construction of three stadiums for the 2012 European Football Championships in Poland as well as subway lines in New Delhi and Singapore, the Bulgarian hydraulic power plant in Tsankov Kamak and hundreds of other construction projects of every type and size.

The FCC conglomerate with its head office in Madrid operates in the public services, environmental services, infrastructure and renewable energies sector on an international scale. FCC has over 90,000 employees in more than 50 countries. Last year its sales were in excess of 12 billion euros with a profit of over 300 million euros.

Questions: Mag. Johannes Gfrerer
Spokesman for the ALPINE Group
Tel: +43 664 9638000 johannes.gfrerer@alpine.at www.alpine.at