Pötttsching: The Pötttsching Children's Village in Burgenland focuses on the integration of socially disadvantaged, jeopardized or abused children. Children and adolescents are given patience, understanding and special therapy to help them cope with their situation. The Children's Village rely on financial support to be able to meet all of the children's needs. The Village was overjoyed to receive the second donation from Dietmar Aluta-Oltyan, president of the Supervisory Board at ALPINE Construction. He recently visited the Village to hand over a check in the amount of 10,000 euros to Mag. Tanja Lechner, director of the Austrian Children's Villages, and to praise the team of therapists and counselors.

The festivities for the handing over ceremony were especially attractive for the children. The caterer, Niki Neunteufel, and physician, Dr. Andreas Löschnak, also sponsors of the Children's Villages, brought two TV personalities along, Andreas Wojta and Alexander Fankhauser, better known as cooks Andi&Alex, to cook with the children. Christine Tschürtz-Kny, the director of the Licht ins Dunkel telethon, was also present and delighted to see the children enjoying themselves.

"We at ALPINE see social commitment as an integral part of our corporate philosophy. That is why we usually support projects over a longer period of time to provide help where it is needed," Aluta-Oltyan said during his visit. "It is especially important to give children with traumatic experiences the best possible care but this is very cost-intensive. We are very happy to receive another donation from ALPINE to be able to carry on with our work," added Lechner.
